

✘ “My dear little children, even today My Son’s giving you the grace of making Myself stood among you. Little children, from the Cross My Son’s given Me to you, and since then I’ve been welcoming you all in My motherly heart. My Children, if you want to become My Son’s Apostles, you must decide to follow the footsteps that He’s tracing for each of you. You can’t say that you’re Apostles when Grace and Mercy don’t abound in you. It takes a pure heart, ready to love! Only with love you’ll fall in love with My Son more and more. They aren’t necessary so many words in order to love, it’s necessary to act and to be always refugee under His voice, without losing His glance. My little children, I wish to help each of you, but, if you don’t donate Me your hearts, I can’t intercede. My Son leaves each of you the choice of pursuing the narrow road or the wide road. My Apostles, nowadays you can’t understand these grace times because you’re very much taken by this world and you don’t notice any more, where good be and where evil be. My little children, take shelter in your Bridegroom’s arms to be radiant! I come to the earth to welcome the souls who are in disarray, who don’t find peace in their hearts any more and who don’t find the path any more. Return to Him by saying your “Yes”, freeing yourselves from the sin that lives in you and that makes you slaves. I’m exhorting you to make your peace with My Son Jesus, so that Grace may abound in you, by praying constantly without ever getting tired so you’ll be able to find Peace.
Only He’s the Saviour; My Son sends Me among you as a Mediatress of His Word. As a mother consoles her children, so I come to console each one of you. Pray, pray, pray so that you may be sentinels and light for those who don’t know My Love. Pray for the Shepherds so that, with their blessed hands, they can help you to walk a holiness path. I’m urging you to live My Messages, which I give you. I’m blessing you all.”

General observations

- This message is particularly vigorous. It is important. It defines with energy the vocation of “Mary’s Pilgrims” who are not a group of pity but a family of formed evangelizers, like the Twelve, in the rough school of the Gospel. These trained Apostles, destined for the great battles of the end times, will bring great fruit, if they are deeply converted.
- This Marian Message is deeply Christological. It ceaselessly recalls to the Son. For the first time, perhaps, Mary defines Herself as “a Mediatress of His Word.”
- The theme of the Cross is here central. The motherly and universal mediation has been offered to Mary at the foot of the Cross. (There is) an only one “Orthopraxis”, an only one good practice, an only one appropriate path: that one of the Cross. We are called to take the narrow path

A comment on the text

1. I've been welcoming you all in My motherly heart: before demanding, Mary assures us of her tenderness.
2. You must decide to follow the footsteps: here we find the revelation of Medjugorje again: to decide for God
3. They aren't necessary so many words in order to love, it's necessary to act and to be always refugee under His voice, without losing His glance: a Franciscan invitation to live unceasingly under Jesus Crucified's glance.
4. Nowadays you can't understand these grace times because you're very much taken by this world and you don't notice any more, where good be and where evil be. The great danger: to get themselves worldly instead than to be the salt of the world.
5. I come to the earth to welcome the souls who are in disarray, who don't find peace in their hearts any more and who don't find the path any more. Once more, Mary defines the sample of the souls chosen to be members of "Pilgrims of Mary's Pilgrims". She chooses the poor types.
