

Dear children, also today I'm coming among you to console your hearts and to help you to run along the way that leads you towards peace.

My children, peace can be obtained only by following a path of holiness.

I'm saying to you, devotees of My love, to you who feel devotees of faith: where's your faith? In order to obtain faith, it's necessary to be devoted to the One who called you. I, too, the "Little One" of Nazareth, was called to a plan unknown to Me and nowadays, thanks to that "Yes", everything changed. Bowing to that call, I was enveloped and I was enraptured by this great mystery of love.

Nowadays, I come to earth so that you may lay at Jesus' feet everything that frightens you, everything that you don't understand. And if you allowed yourselves to be moulded every day by prayer, peace will be able to act in you and you'll become bearers of peace.

How many of you are still unable to say a total 'Yes'? Love of My Love, don't let yourselves be robbed of what God, from Heaven, wants to donate you. Receive the Peace King, in order to taste and experience all His fullness of love, but if you aren't constant in prayer, God can't act in you.

And to you, who say to love My Son, I'm saying: If the grain of wheat doesn't die, it doesn't bear fruit but, if you know how to die to yourselves in order to be born again to new life, you'll be able to taste and enjoy, just as you'll learn to fly and, by prayer, all those answers that the world doesn't give you are born in you, because, by prayer, you're enlightened by the Holy Spirit.

You don't need many words, but it's necessary to be true witnesses of the faith and you, who had the call gift, be faith witnesses in these times, because, by your witness and your good works of mercy, you'll be My Son's Light, which can be resplended for those who don't know God's love yet.

Learn, My children, to fall in love with the things of Heaven more and more because, looking at Him, you'll be able to have the clarity of how one can love. He became man and came to dwell among you. He, out of love, gave all of Himself, humbling Himself to the point of death, to the point of death on the Cross, and I, who am a mother, looking at My Son on the Cross, with a torn heart, through that blood which gushed out, I learnt to love, And there I understood, from that look of love, when My Son donated Me as a Mother to each one of you and since then you have all become My children. If in you, in your hearts, the strong desire of love to take on all the sufferings of your brothers isn't born, you'll never be able to understand total love.

My dear children, I'm near and beside you, so that you may find within you that oasis of peace that no one will be able to take away from you. That's why I'm here: not to make you lose hope! I'll pray so that the plans that God has for each of you can be realised.

This is the time in order to learn to listen to the voice of God, who wants to be born in your hearts. Pray, pray, pray to be released from all the evil that surrounds you!

Thank you for having responded to My call.
